

Family Access on Summit K12

2 months ago · Updated

An active subscription to Summit K12's Connect to Literacy program now includes Family Access!

Family Access is an optional feature designed for relatives who are interested in developing their English proficiency. It allows them to enhance their own English language development at home by utilizing components from our existing program. It's a great way for families to engage together in language learning!

How to Log In

Each student enrolled in a Connect to Literacy course has access to four Family User accounts. To find login information for these accounts, your student can select Family Access from the My Account dropdown menu.

Appearance of the My Summit Base dashboard and the number of ELD Pre-Tests available will vary depending on State.*

Once family users finish the ELD BOY, they can submit it for scoring. After submission, they'll receive instant feedback on their performance for each question.

Your answer is correct.
The correct answer is:  to help with research and projects that protect bees

Your answer is incorrect.
The correct answer is:

Completing the ELD BOY will create a Personalized Learning Plan (PLP) that automatically assigns English language activities based on the user's test results*. As an activity is completed, the next one available will automatically unlock, allowing users to complete the PLP at their own pace.

The ELD BOY must be completed for a TREK to appear for a particular language domain.*

After completing all ELD BOY Assessments and corresponding PLP #1s, the ELD MOY Assessments is auto-assigned*. The same logic would then apply to PLP #2s and then the final ELD EOY Assessments and PLP #3s.

The MOY will auto-assign once the assessment is available.*

Additional Information

These accounts do not require a teacher to assign content, and progress cannot be viewed by school personnel. Family user accounts operate separately from the students' accounts and do not follow assignment dates or district testing windows that the student accounts are subjected to.

Family users can always review their completed activities in My PLP or My Assignments by selecting Completed Assignments.
